U.S. GROWN SOYBEAN OIL IS HEART HEALTHY

Health professionals have long regarded soybean oil, commonly labeled as vegetable oil, as a healthy cooking oil. Thanks to the Food and Drug Administration’s authorization of a qualified health claim confirming soybean oil’s ability to reduce the risk of coronary heart disease, consumers will see heart-healthy labeling on bottles.

REDUCED RISK OF CHD

The health claim that appears on labels of soybean oil and soybean oil-containing products states: “Supportive but not conclusive scientific evidence suggests that eating about 1½ tablespoons (20.5 grams) daily of soybean oil, which contains unsaturated fat, may reduce the risk of coronary heart disease. To achieve this possible benefit, soybean oil is to replace saturated fat and not increase the total number of calories you eat in a day. One serving of this product contains [x] grams of soybean oil.”

"Lowering intake of saturated fat and replacing it with unsaturated fats, especially polyunsaturated fats, like those found in soybean oil, will lower the incidence of cardiovascular disease."

FAVORABLE FATTY ACID PROFILE

Most soybean oil is made with U.S. grown soybeans and has a favorable fatty acid composition, containing 0 grams of trans fat and just 2 grams of saturated fat per 1 tablespoon serving. It is an excellent source of alpha-linoleic acid (ALA) omega-3’s; the ALA found in soybean oil is the principal source of omega-3s in the U.S. diet. It is also one of the few non-fish sources of omega-3 polyunsaturated fatty acids. Omega-3s affect cardiovascular health and may reduce blood pressure.

*Soybean oil is commonly labeled as vegetable oil on grocery store shelves.

2. One tablespoon of soybean oil (13.6 g) contains 932 mg ALA omega-3s.

SOY PROTEIN: HEART HEALTHY & SUSTAINABLE

Soy is a complete plant-based protein that provides all essential amino acids and is similar to animal products in terms of protein quality.

Soyfoods and ingredients are versatile, and can be used in a variety of recipes as substitutions for traditional ingredients. Soy-based ingredients can promote moisture and flavor retention, boost protein content and enhance the texture of many foods. Soy is also the only plant protein that carries the FDA’s heart health claim.

Almost half of the land in the United States is devoted to farming. Soybeans are the largest crop grown on U.S. soil, making soybean farmers’ dedication to the land crucial. As stewards of the land, U.S. soybean farmers employ sustainable practices such as crop rotation, reduced tillage, and water and nutrient management to ensure that the land is healthy for future generations.

Ninety-eight percent of U.S. farms are family owned. Soy Connection’s Farmer Collection is a recipe series developed by United Soybean Board (USB) farmers and their families. The recipes in this collection feature farmers’ favorite U.S. grown ingredients, including farm-fresh eggs, crisp and crunchy greens, just-picked apples, hearty pecans, and of course, versatile, heart healthy, soybean oil.
USB Farmer-Director Kevin Wilson and his wife Karen grow soybeans, corn, processing tomatoes and hay, and have a small cow-calf herd on their farm in Walton, Indiana. His children, grandchildren and brothers are also involved on the farm. Kevin’s goal for his operation is to be sustainable. He wants to continue to educate and communicate to his customers the great things he is doing on his farm.

Kevin and Karen enjoy cooking their spinach and feta brunch bake to bring their family together on the weekends!

Instructions:
Combine flour, baking powder and salt in a large bowl. Rub in soybean shortening until crumbly. Mix in egg and vanilla. Gradually add the water, kneading until a smooth but sticky dough forms. Add a tablespoon more flour if the dough is too sticky to handle. Cover and let rest 15 minutes.

Divide the dough into roughly 64 one-inch pieces and roll into balls using your hands. Using a rolling pin, press each ball into a 2-3 inch round, thin enough to be translucent. Preheat 6 cups of soybean oil to 350°F in a heavy frying pan or small deep fryer.

While the oil is heating, combine the piloncillo/brown sugar, water, cinnamon stick and star anise in a small saucepan and heat on medium heat until sugar has dissolved. Strain syrup, discard cinnamon and anise seeds and stir in the rum.

Fry buñuelos about 6 at a time for 30-60 seconds on each side until golden brown. Repeat with remaining buñuelos. Transfer to paper towel lined sheet pans and sprinkle with the granulated sugar. Drizzle with the warm rum syrup before serving.
USB’s 78 farmer-directors work on behalf of all U.S. soybean farmers to achieve maximum value for their soy checkoff investments. These volunteers invest and leverage checkoff funds in programs and partnerships to drive soybean innovation beyond the bushel and increase preference for U.S. soy. That preference is based on U.S. soybean meal and oil quality and the sustainability of U.S. soybean farmers. As stipulated in the federal Soybean Promotion, Research and Consumer Information Act, the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service has oversight responsibilities for USB and the soy checkoff.
